

100 Scenes with Mt. Fuji

To mark the 80th anniversary of the Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park designation, Ministry of the Environment and related prefectures and municipalities have selected this representative landscape of Mt. Fuji as "100 Scenes with Mt. Fuji" to advertise the charm of Mt. Fuji as a symbol of Japan and to have more people become familiar with Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park. Each landscape with Mt. Fuji has a story behind it that has been developed by the local people who live with the mountain. We hope you will visit various places around Mt. Fuji and enjoy the culture and nature of each region.

Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park

Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park is divided into four areas: the Mt. Fuji Area, which includes the Fuji Five Lakes and the plateau; the Hakone Area famous as a hot spring area since ancient times; the Izu Peninsula Area, which is attractive thanks to the Amagi Mountain Range and its varied coastline; and the Izu Islands Area consisting of volcanic islands. You can see the splendid Mt. Fuji from all of these areas.

Mt. Fuji Area

Mt. Fuji is a World Cultural Heritage site known for its proportioned beauty. The lava flows from volcanoes have created varied natural models, such as, the Fuji Five Lakes, the vast Aokigahara Jukai Forest, wind caves, ice caves, and lava tree molds like wooden casts.
