

A Matcha-Making Experience in an Authentic Japanese Setting

The Furukawa Art Museum, in a quiet residential area of Nagoya, exhibits mainly Japanese paintings and is conveniently located just a 3-minute walk from a subway station.

The Tamesaburo Memorial Museum, a nationally registered tangible cultural property, is a Japanese-style residence and tearoom, featuring sukiya-style architecture built in 1934, with a seasonal Japanese garden. Enjoy the Matcha-Making Experience alongside art installations that make use of the space.
